

Dance Artists in Residence Call Out

Applications Open: 12 Noon - Friday, 15 June

Applications Close: 12 Noon - Friday, 6 July

What is DAIR?

As the peak body for the West Australian dance sector, Ausdance WA seeks to address the challenges faced by dance artists in developing their dance practices. As we have learnt from our 2017 Membership Survey, access to affordable dance space was sighted as one of the top 3 challenges influencing member's dance practice

Dance Artist in Residence (DAIR) responds to this barrier through partnerships with dance studios, schools and other available dance spaces. These partnerships create the opportunity for dance artists to access free rehearsal spaces in the form of a residency to develop their practice and their ideas.

Residencies aim to support the creative development of new works. This can include the initial planning and exploration of ideas, new developments of existing work or the exploration of new collaborations or processes. There is no expectation that a residency will produce a performance outcome, allowing artists to access space and focus solely on investigating their ideas.

Through the investment in future work and development of artistic practices, the benefits of DAIR have the potential to reach beyond the individual artist, facilitating creative exchanges across the dance and performing arts sector.

Who is Eligible?

To be eligible for DAIR, artists must be current members of Ausdance WA and be based primarily in Western Australia. To become a member of Ausdance WA you can do so by registering here: <https://www.ausdancewa.org.au/membership/>.

Selection Criteria

- The clarity of the project description.
- Concept and methodology proposed by the applicant.
- Desired outcomes and benefit to the artist in receiving the DAIR at this point in the development of their practice and their ideas.

DAIR Recipients Receive:

- Residency placement in appropriate studio space.
- Administrative and planning support from Ausdance WA where applicable.
- Studio visit from an Ausdance WA representative.
- Promotion of artist/residency through Ausdance WA e-news and social media channels.
- Feedback session post residency
- Opportunity to present work to studio partners where applicable.
